Biography

Frank J. Franzino, Jr. has more than 30 years of extensive litigation experience, at both the trial and appellate levels, with emphasis in commercial and corporate matters. He has successfully represented his corporate and individual clients before the state and federal courts and has participated extensively in arbitrations before the National Association of Securities Dealers and the American Arbitration Association. Frank also frequently represents international clients in judicial and arbitration proceedings in the United States.

The depth of his expertise, and his success in disputes and litigated matters, has led to his retention by both national and international law firms as counsel for their clients. His skills in negotiation, as well as advocacy, have earned him a reputation for winning the “tough case.”
